Mumbai-based Design Lab Vyoma has designed the Pergula – A Restro Bar, an informal resto-bar that helps friends socialize in an area submerged with office spaces. Greenery blurs the line between indoor and outdoor areas, with warm hues to add a fresh coziness to the space.

A contemporary style has been used for the project, which incorporates various textures and light into the experiment. A small performance stage has been constructed for various artists by freeing up circulation spaces. Made on a tight budget and time frame, the project was constructed between twenty-one and twenty-eight days.
